INDEX

TO

VOLUME FIFTH.

A

Aberdeen quarterly reports, 235, 379, 478.
Agriculture, account of the practice of it in the Netherlands, 311.
Agricultural publications, review of, 208 et seq. 353 et seq.
Agricultural intelligence, 93 et seq. 226 et seq. 368 et seq. 475 et seq.
Anecdotes concerning farming in East Lothian, 387.
Annandale, letter from a farmer in, 99.
Annandale (Upper), letter of intelligence from a gentleman there, 483.
Ayrshire, husbandry of, explained, 73. Improvements thereupon recommended, 79.
——— letter of intelligence from, 481.
Auchencreath, farm of, mode of drainage practised there, 274.

B

Bamboroughshire breed of sheep; comparative remarks betwixt them and the Leicesters, 455.
Bamffshire quarterly reports, 101, 231, 482.
Barley, English and Scots, difference betwixt the value of, 53.
——— considered to be the best crop with which grass seeds can be sown, 282.
Bedford, (Duke of) elegy to his memory, 444.
Berwickshire drill turnip husbandry, account of, by Mr Low at Woodend, 466.
——— quarterly reports, 236, 381, 487.
Black Spald, a disorder incidental to calves, mode of curing it, 297. Considered to be the quarter-ill of other districts, ib.
Boswell, George, Esq., letter of intelligence from, 114.
Broom, thoughts on the best way of extirpating it, 285.
Buchan Crofter, queries by, 203.

C

Caithness, statement of various measures carried on there in the year 1803, calculated for the improvement of, 1.
Call, Sir John, Bart. his theory concerning smut in wheat, 34.
Calves, method of curing them of the black spald, 297.
Cambridgeshire, fen husbandry of, explained, 36. The explanation said to be incorrect, 289.
Capons, information requested concerning, 190.
Cardiff common, improvements made on, 117.
Cavan statistical survey, review of, 219.
Cockburn, John, Esq., sketch of the various improvements introduced by him, with his portrait, 129.
——— original letter from him to Alexander Wight, one of his tenants, 439.

INDEX

TO

VOLUME FIFTH.

A

Aberdeen quarterly reports, 235, 379, 478.
Agriculture, account of the practice of it in the Netherlands, 311.
Agricultural publications, review of, 208 et seq. 353 et seq.
Agricultural intelligence, 93 et seq. 226 et seq. 368 et seq. 475 et seq.
Anecdotes concerning farming in East Lothian, 387.
Annandale, letter from a farmer in, 99.
Annandale (Upper), letter of intelligence from a gentleman there, 483.
Ayrshire, husbandry of, explained, 73. Improvements thereupon recommended, 79.
——— letter of intelligence from, 481.
Auchencreath, farm of, mode of drainage practised there, 274.

B

Bamboroughshire breed of sheep; comparative remarks betwixt them and the Leicesters, 455.
Bamffshire quarterly reports, 101, 231, 482.
Barley, English and Scots, difference betwixt the value of, 53.
——— considered to be the best crop with which grass seeds can be sown, 282.
Bedford, (Duke of) elegy to his memory, 444.
Berwickshire drill turnip husbandry, account of, by Mr Low at Woodend, 466.
——— quarterly reports, 236, 381, 487.
Black Spald, a disorder incidental to calves, mode of curing it, 297. Considered to be the quarter-ill of other districts, ib.
Boswell, George, Esq., letter of intelligence from, 114.
Broom, thoughts on the best way of extirpating it, 285.
Buchan Crofter, queries by, 203.

C

Caithness, statement of various measures carried on there in the year 1803, calculated for the improvement of, 1.
Call, Sir John, Bart. his theory concerning smut in wheat, 34.
Calves, method of curing them of the black spald, 297.
Cambridgeshire, fen husbandry of, explained, 36. The explanation said to be incorrect, 289.
Capons, information requested concerning, 190.
Cardiff common, improvements made on, 117.
Cavan statistical survey, review of, 219.
Cockburn, John, Esq., sketch of the various improvements introduced by him, with his portrait, 129.
——— original letter from him to Alexander Wight, one of his tenants, 439.

Commons in Caithneſs, improvement of, 4.
Coleſeed, value of in Cambridgeſhire, 37; ſaid to be exaggerated, 289.
Corn, drilling of it making rapid progreſs in Berwickſhire, 16.
Corn Laws, obſervations on the principles which ought to direct their formation, 332.
Corn Trade, report of the committee appointed by the Houſe of Commons to conſider the preſent ſtate of it, 334.
Corn Bill, (new) account of, 374.
Correſpondents, notices to, 128, 250, 386, 506.
Creſinus, farmer, account of his enchantments, 327.
Crops, a judicious rotation of them deſcribed, 279.

D

Dempſter, George, Eſq., letter of intelligence from, 493.
Dirleton, eſtate of, formerly paid a very heavy rent in kind, 391.
Diſtillation, experiments made in, to aſcertain the comparative value of Engliſh and Scots barley, 68.
Dorſetſhire, letters of intelligence from, 382, 495.
Drainage, ſheep paſture much improved thereby, 432. Much judgement required to do it advantageouſly, ib.
Draining, general obſervations on its utility, 273. An effectual mode of executing it pointed out, 274.
Drilling of corn, the practice upon the increaſe in Berwickſhire, 16.
Dublin, letter from a gentleman in, 125.
Ducket's ſkim-plough, remarks thereupon, 473.
Dumbartonſhire, letter of intelligence from a farmer there, 101.
Dumfries quarterly reports, 105, 375, 486.
Dung, farm-yard, thoughts on the management of, 38.
——, thoughts on the application of, 161. Ought not to be laid on too thick, 162. Should be ſpread with accuracy, 163. Uſed with moſt advantage upon clay ſoils, when under ſummer fallow, 167.

E

Elegy on the late Duke of Bedford, 444.
Eſſex quarterly report, 120.

F

Falkirk, letters of intelligence from, 102, 219, 377, 479.
Farming ſociety, Ormiſton, liſt of the members of, 142.
Farm management betwixt the river Tyne in Northumberland and the frith of Forth, obſervations upon, 261.
Farming ſchools, propoſal for eſtabliſhing, 330.
Farmers, comparative view of their preſent ſituation with what it was fifty years ago, 387.
Feeding byre, deſcription of one, with a figure, 200.
Fen huſbandry, attempts to introduce it into Caithneſs in 1803, 3. Cambridgeſhire ſyſtem explained, 36.
Fiars of grain, liſts of, fixed in different counties, 241.
Fife quarterly reports, 111, 484.
Findlater (the Rev. Charles), his account of Peebles huſbandry vindicated, 85.

G

Gardiner, Dr, review of his Eſſays, 353.
Galloway, letters of intelligence from, 228, 478.
Gates, caſt iron work for the hanging and faſtening of them recommended, 83.
Glaſgow, letters of intelligence from, 110, 238, 380, 484.
———, letter from a gentleman there, deſcribing the injury done to his garden by worms, 374.
Grain, annual ſiars of, in Eaſt Lothian, mode of aſcertaining deſcribed and animadverted upon, 197.
——, ſiars of, in different counties for crop 1803, 241.
—— reſerved for ſeed keeps beſt when dried with ſteam, 415.
——, thoughts on the quantity required to ſeed a Scotch acre of land, 425. Thin ſowing in general recommended, 416. Obſervations on the crops of 1804, 454.
Graſs ſeeds moſt ſucceſsful when ſown among barley, 282.
Gray, Mr, of Bamborough, ſome account of his ſheep, 455.
Grey, Mr, honourable mention made of his improvements, 158.

H

Haddington (Earl of), comparative view of the ſtate of farming now and formerly, inſcribed to him, 387.
———— market, account of wheat ſold there from 2d November 1803 to 26th October 1804, 491.
Headrick, Mr, letter from him to Mr Low of Annfield concerning the analyzation of his limeſtone, 451.
Highland Society, remarks on their attempts to encourage potato huſbandry in the Highlands and Iſles, 414.
Hints to Agriculturiſts, review of, 212.
Hunter, Robert, Eſq. review of his Letter to the County of Haddington, 361.
Huſbandry, corn and graſs alternately, applauded, 264.

I

Improvements, ſtatement of thoſe introduced into Caithneſs in 1803, 1.
———— (ſketch of) introduced by John Cockburn, Eſq. of Ormiſton, 129.
————, thoughts on certain obſtacles to, 151.
Incloſing of corn land conſidered to be unneceſſary, 464.
Inverneſsſhire quarterly reports, 107, 382, 489.
Inverneſs, letters of intelligence from, 236, 376.
Intelligence, agricultural, leading article of, 93, 226, 368, 475.

K

Kelſo, letters from a farmer near, 109, 233, 488.
Kincardineſhire quarterly report, 379.

L

Labour, hints reſpecting the price of, in the Highlands of Scotland, 45.
———— thoughts concerning regulating the value of, by Sir George S. Mackenzie, Bart. 205. Anſwered, 251.
———— the impropriety of attempting to regulate its value demonſtrated, 251.

Labour, reply by Sir George S. Mackenzie to Pol-Œconomicus's letter on this ſubject, 435. Note thereon by Conductor, 438.
Lanark, Upper Ward, quarterly reports of, 234. 381.
Land, ſome injudicious methods of ſetting it reprobated, 159. Conductor's remarks thereupon, 160.
—— none but ſuch as is of the beſt quality capable of ſtanding a four courſe ſhift for a length of time, 265.
—— query reſpecting the advantage of enclosing it in certain ſituations, 292. Thoughts on the quantity proper for feeding a Scotch acre of, 425.
Lauderdale, Earl of, obſervations on his Inquiry into the Nature and Origin of Public Wealth, 365.
Leaſes, obſervations on the ſhortneſs and total want of them in ſome parts of Scotland, 404.
Leiceſter, or improved breed of ſheep, comparative remarks on difference betwixt them and the Bamboroughſhire breed, 455.
Letters from John Cockburn Eſq. to Alexander Wight, one of his tenants, 135. 439.
—— to a Noble Lord, review of, 208.
Lime, method of aſcertaining the quality of, 27.
—— thoughts on the beſt mode of analyzing it, by Sir George S. Mackenzie, 265. Unleſs analyzed by a ſkilful chemiſt, its real value cannot be aſcertained, 266.
—— letter from Mr Low of Annfield concerning the analyzation of, 451. Some of Sir G. S. Mackenzie's obſervations conſidered to be frivolous, 452.
Limeſtone, obſervations on aſcertaining the quality of, 272. Magneſian limeſtone eaſily diſtinguiſhed from that which is purely calcareous, 273.
Lincolnſhire quarterly report, 119.
London, letters of intelligence from, 125. 249. 384. 499.
Lothian, Mid, quarterly reports, 108. 239, 378, 505.
—— Eaſt, quarterly reports, 111, 240. 381. 490.
—— mode of ſtriking the ſiars of grain therein examined, 197.
—— farmers there poſſeſſed of greater capital and ſkill than in other counties, 391.
Low, Mr, (Woodend) his account of the Berwick turnip huſbandry, 466.
Lynn, letter of intelligence from, 499.

M

Mackenzie, Sir George, Bart. letter from, concerning the value of labour in the Highlands, 45.
——, thoughts by, on regulating the price of labour, 205. On the analyzation of lime, 265. On the ſmut upon wheat, 267. On the analyzation of marl, 269.
Malt, general view of the taxes on, by Dr Skene Keith, 49.
Malt-tax, excerpts from the report of the committee appointed to inveſtigate that ſubject, 342. Dr Skene Keith's evidence before the committee, 346.

Malt, pale, beſt produced by being dried with ſteam, 414.
Manure, thoughts concerning the management of, 38. Cutting grain crops low recommended as a good mode of increaſing it, 39.
Markets, Glaſgow, ſtate of, 110, 239, 380, 484.
———, London, ſtate of, 125, 249, 385, 500.
———, Lynn, ſtate of, 499.
Marl, experiments in the analyzation of, by Sir George S. Mackenzie, 269.
Mechanics in Scotland, thoughts on their general conduct, 433.
Meteorology, Liverpool, 127. 503.
Moorhouſe, Mr, the firſt Engliſhman who purchaſed cattle in the Hebrides, 393.
Morayſhire quarterly reports, 379. 482.
Munchauſen (Baron) upon the redundancies of nature, 184.

N

Nature, reaſonings and experiments upon the redundancies to be found in, 185.
Netherlands, on the agriculture of, 311.
Norfolk quarterly reports, 122, 246, 385.
——— ſtatement of expence attending the culture of corn there in 1790 and 1804, preſented to the Houſe of Commons, 338. Obſervations thereon, 341. Mode of pickling wheat there elucidated, 442.
Northumberland quarterly reports, 124, 247, 383.

O

Oak, advantages of planting it for undergrowth, 323.
Oats, on the utility of bruiſing them with a machine for horſe feed, 425. Vegetate after paſſing through horſes when uſed whole, ib.
Ormiſton (eſtate of), account of improvements introduced by John Cockburn Eſq. 131.
Oſiers and willows, obſervations on planting, 182.
Oxen, their comparative utility with horſes for draught diſcuſſed, 179. Preference given to them, 181. Further obſervations on the ſame ſubject, 296.

P

Paring and burning, trials made thereof in Caithneſs, 3.
Parker, Mr, letter from, concerning the uſe of caſt-iron work, in hanging and faſtening gates, 83.
Parſley, on its uſe as food for horſes and cattle, 453. Conſidered to be a ſtrong antiſeptic, ib.
Peas, advantage of drilling them, 18.
Peebles ſurvey, account of, by the monthly reviewer, reviewed, 85.
Perth, letter from a gentleman near, 108, 375, 493.
Pickling of wheat, as a preventative againſt ſmut, thought unneceſſary, 35. Contradicted by the Conductor, 36.
Pitt (Mr William) letter from, concerning the Staffordſhire plough, 29.
Pol-Economicus, conſiderations by him on the impropriety of attempting to regulate the value of labour, 251. Reply by Sir George S. Mackenzie, 435.

Plantations, obſervations on the beſt mode of making them, 323.
Poor-laws in Scotland, their advantages explained, 20.
——— remarks upon them, 457. Stenting or aſſeſſing for the ſupport of the poor thought neceſſary, ib. Parochial friendly ſocieties recommended, 460.
——— (England), curſory remarks thereon, 461.
Potatoes, obſervations on the beſt and moſt economical method of boiling them, 191, 503.
Potato huſbandry, advantages of, 192. Conductors remark thereupon, 196.
Potatoes, ſcooping the ſeed ſucceſsfully practiſed, 287.
——— introduced into Britain by Sir John Hawkins, 395. Not more than twenty years ſince they were commonly cultivated in the fields, ib. Obſervations on their cultivation in the Highlands, 413.
Potato, an excellent plant for bringing friable moſs or muir into cultivation, 417.
Property-tax bill, its confuſion and inaccuracy pointed out, 96.
——— (Commiſſioners of), an attempt made to remove them in Eaſt Lothian, 241. Review of Mr Hunter's letter on that ſubject, 361.

Q

Queries by a Buchan Croſter, 203. On the advantage of encloſing land, 292. Anſwered by Lieutenant Colonel Vavaſour, 464.

R

Review of agricultural publications. Of letters to a Noble Lord on the manufactures, agriculture, and apparent proſperity of Scotland, 208. Of hints to agriculturiſts, 212. Of the ſtatiſtical ſurvey of the county of Cavan, 219. Of Dr Gardiner's eſſays, 353. Of Mr Hunter's letter to the county of Haddington, 361.
Report of the committee appointed to conſider the corn-trade, 334.
Ridges, conſiderations on ſtraighting them, 447. Difficult to execute upon wet ſoils, but eaſily accompliſhed on dry ones, 448.
Roads and harbours in Caithneſs, the neceſſity of making new ones pointed out, 7.
Road acts, thoughts concerning them, 283.
Roſsſhire quarterly reports, 104, 232, 480.
Rotation of crops, an important part of huſbandry, 279. Some judicious rotations deſcribed, 280.
Ruta-baga, culture of, increaſing in Tweeddale, 15. Complaints as to the uncertainty of its growth, 17.
——— obſervations on the culture of, 200. Tranſplanting from the ſeed-bed recommended, 202. Inferior to yams as a ſuccedaneum for turnip, 204.
——— obſervations on the culture and uſe of, 421. Tranſplanting this root not thought advantageous, 422. The beſt article as ſpring food for ſtock of all kinds, 423. Horſes very fond of it, ib. 14,400 ſtone raiſed on three acres, 424.
Rye graſs, perennial, account of its diſcovery and propagation in Clydeſdale, 305.

S

Scotland, the ſtate of, abject and miſerable at the beginning of the 18th century, 129.
—— on the preſent ſtate of the poor there, 457.
Schools for teaching practical agriculture, advantages of, 330.
Scrabſter, plan for eſtabliſhing a royal colony at, 11.
Selkirkſhire, ſtate of huſbandry in, 97.
Selkirk quarterly reports, 233, 478.
Services, perſonal and predial, impolicy of impoſing them upon the tenantry of Scotland, 147. Remarks by Conductor thereupon, 149.
Sheep-farming in Caithneſs, improvements made in, 5.
Sheep, on the management of, at Cauterets in France, 170. Account of the ſheep pox, 175.
—— comparative trial of different breeds, 307. Preference given to the black-faced breed, 310.
—— obſervations upon ſoils proper for rearing them, 429.
Skene Keith, Dr, general view of the taxes on malt, by, 49. His evidence before the Houſe of Commons, 346.
Skim-plough invented by Mr Ducket, remarks thereupon, 474.
Smut of wheat, thoughts concerning the cauſe of, 34.
—— Sir George S. Mackenzie's thoughts concerning the cauſe of it upon wheat, 268. May be diſcovered as ſoon as the ear forms, ib.
Soils, account of thoſe in the Cambridgeſhire fens, 290.
Staffordſhire plough, account of, with a figure, 29. Remarks thereupon by Mr Alexander Trotter, 32.
Steam, uſe of it in drying malt, grain, and potatoes, 413.
—— kilns, hints concerning, 417.
Steelyards for aſcertaining the power neceſſary to work a plough, where to be found, 473.
Stipends, augmentation of in victual objected to, where the teinds were valued in money, 47.
Swediſh turnip, remarks on the advantages of cultivating it, 421.

T

Thraſhing machines, improvements upon, pointed out, 19.
Anſwer to Arator's letters on that ſubject, 302. Conductor's note thereupon, 304. Reply from Arator, 418.
Trees, information requeſted concerning the moſt expeditious way of taking up the roots of, 207. An anſwer given, 327.
Trotter, Mr Alexander, Remarks by, on the Staffordſhire plough, 32.
Turnip, Swediſh, much cultivated in the pariſh of Newlands, 15. Advantages of cultivating it, 421.
Turnip, common, ſtoring of them a practice prevalent in Tweeddale, 15. Advantages of the practice deſcribed, 293.
Turnips, cultivation of them has added much to the value of certain ſoils, 396. Always ſown in drills in Scotland, ib.
Turnip huſbandry, Mr Low's account of the Berwickſhire ſyſtem, 466.
Turnpike roads, obſervations on their management, 283. Ought to be ſupported out of the funds levied at the toll-bars erected thereupon, ib. Diſtinguiſhed from the by or croſs-roads, 284.

Tweeddale, retroſpective notices of agriculture in, 13.
Tweeddale quarterly reports, 100. 237. 488.

V

Vavaſour (Lieutenant-Colonel) his obſervations on encloſing corn land, 464.

W

Wales, letters from a farmer in, 117. 243. 383. 496.
Walls and Sandneſs in Zetland, extract from the ſtatiſtical account of, 96.
Waſte land, improvement made thereupon in Caithneſs during the year 1803, 2.
——— thoughts on the improvement of, 450. Proprietors ought to aſſiſt in making ſuch improvements, ib.
Wheat, thoughts concerning the cauſe of ſmut upon, 34.
———, Sir George S. Mackenzie's thoughts on the cauſe of ſmut upon, 267. Conſidered to be ſimilar to the cancer in the human body, 268.
———, utility of ſteeping it before ſowing, 286. Sea-water recommended for this purpoſe, 287.
———, advantage of uſing hot lime in pickling it for ſeed, 442. when properly ſteeped and limed, is ſecured from ſmut, 443.
Wheats, account of the quantity ſold in Haddington market, from 2d December 1803 to October 26th 1804, 491.
Wight (Robert) in Murrays, the firſt farmer in Scotland who encloſed by ditch and hedge at his own expence, 133.
——— (Alexander) letters to him from John Cockburn Eſq. 135. 439.
Willows and oziers, obſervations on the planting of, 182.
Whins, a new method of extirpating them pointed out, 285.
Woods, advantage of making them for undergrowth, 323.

Y

Yams preferred to ruta baga as a ſuccedaneum for turnips, 204.
Yorkſhire quarterly reports, 121. 242. 384. 497.
——— (Eaſt Riding) letter of intelligence from, 245.
——— farmer, letter of intelligence from, 248.
——— retroſpective view of rural affairs in that county for 1804, 498.

Z

Zetlanders, remarks upon their diſtreſſes, 95. The rural and political œconomy of the diſtrict hoſtile to improvement, 96. Extract from the ſtatiſtical account of Walls and Sandneſs in confirmation thereof, ib.

END OF VOLUME FIFTH.

Printed by D. Willison, Craig's Close, Edinburgh.

Q440 c.17. 5
113
XXV. 26 5

THE

FARMER'S MAGAZINE:

A

PERIODICAL WORK,

EXCLUSIVELY DEVOTED TO

AGRICULTURE,

AND

RURAL AFFAIRS:

1804.

Ye gen'rous Britons, venerate the PLOUGH,
And o'er your hills, and long withdrawing vales,
Let Autumn spread her treasures to the Sun. THOMSON.

VOL. V.

Edinburgh:

PRINTED BY D. WILLISON, CRAIG'S CLOSE,
FOR ARCH. CONSTABLE & CO. EDINBURGH;
SOLD BY LONGMAN HURST REES & ORME, LONDON; J. ARCHER, DUBLIN; BRASH & REID, GLASGOW; AND THE PRINCIPAL BOOKSELLERS IN THE UNITED KINGDOM.

1804.